RE: Professional Staff achieves LEED certification

Congratulations to John Sanders, Michael Aktalay and Michael Davis for joining Brandon Pace and Emily Bradley in becoming LEED Accredited Professionals during the month of June. We're thrilled to announce that all members of Sanders Pace Architecture's Professional Staff are now LEED Accredited Professionals.

Sanders Pace Architecture is known for its promotion of the fundamental principles of sustainable design, seen in its progressive portfolio of projects ranging from the adaptive reuse and renovation of historic structures to high performance buildings and zero-energy recreational facilities. Now, in keeping with this commitment to environmental stewardship and responsible design each of our design professionals is certified to assist you with tracking, specifying, and targeting LEED Classification standards suited specifically to each project. With our entire design staff of LEED Accredited Professionals, Sanders Pace Architecture continues its dedication to building healthy, sustainable cities and structures.
